

Meet and Code Coding School Started

Oct 08, 2018

The first two modules of Meet and Code, a weekend coding school for high school students were successfully held in Sarajevo and Zenica. Our organizers and participants are expecting four more modules.

A group of BURCH University students and employees, together with representatives of AsuBiH successfully completed one working weekend where they met high school students interested in coding.

We are expecting four more modules, new locations and new students.
